

CONCLUSION

providing high quality digital images in a custom application over traditional methods as it is cost effective. Digital enhances the learning experience by allowing multiple and multiple users to view the same image from different simultaneously. The use of VIPER is already creating a digitized data sets, providing continued value to the pathology. In the future these data sets could be utilized for continuing technology reviews and research.